

Function machines

Function machines do one calculation.
Whichever calculation you tell it to do.
This function machine adds five to whatever number is put into the machine.

Can you work out what numbers will come out of these function machines?

Can you work out what numbers were put into these function machines?

